

Benjamin Sharp

MBBS, BSc, MRCOG, FRANZCOG

Gynaecologist and Obstetrician
Advanced Endoscopic Surgery

Ben Sharp is a highly experienced obstetrician and gynaecologist who has worked in both the hospital and private practice environment.

As a Gynaecologist he has a keen interest in abnormal and heavy menstrual bleeding, pelvic pain, pain during sex, pelvic reconstructive surgery and urinary incontinence. He has treated many women with endometriosis. After removing their endometriosis,

Ben has also looked after them throughout their subsequent pregnancy and in the postnatal period.

As an Obstetrician he is a firm believer in safety and the right of women to choose to try to birth their baby in the way that they want. He works closely with women, their partners and midwives to achieve the safest and least traumatic outcome for mother and baby.

Ben graduated from the University of London in 1991 and moved to Christchurch in 2008, after accepting the post of Consultant Obstetrician and Gynaecologist at Christchurch Women's Hospital. He now works in full time private practice at Oxford Women's Health.
